LBJ Dedicates JFK Memorial At Texarkana

By FRANK CORMIER

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson related today on his home acres after a three-state tour in which he mixed horsemanship, statesmanship and stump-style politicking.

Johnson displayed his horsemanship at Oklahoma City, mounting a palomino quarter horse at the state fair and cantering around in front of several thousand people with one hand on the reins, the other waving a Texas hat in the air, Buffalo Bill style.

The statesmanship came earlier, at El Paso, Tex., where Johnson greeted President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico in celebration of a treaty ending a Rio Grande border dispute.

And, depending on how you define the word, politicking occupied all or part of the rest of Johnson's day as he mixed with cheering crowds and delivered speeches in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

The traveling White House did not characterize the President's trip either as political or nonpolitical, saying a judgment would be made at the end of the month — when the bills come in — as to whether the taxpayers or the Democratic National Committee pay for Johnson's 14 hours of jet speed travel.

Before flying to his LBJ Ranch with Mrs. Johnson late Friday night, the President made his final public appearance of the day before a noisy after-dark crowd that jammed into John F. Kennedy Square in Texarkana, U.S.A. — so named by some of the local people because the city straddles the Arkansas and Texas border.

Johnson himself stood at a border — straddling a podium — to mock repeatedly the campaign slogan of the Republican presidential candidate, Barry Goldwater: "You know in your heart that he is right."

Said Johnson: "Social Security is the haven for our older citizens . . . some of the voices say this is all wrong. But you know in your heart that it is right."

He used much the same rhetorical formula in ticking off other issues on which his views differ from those of Goldwater — civil rights, the limited nuclear test ban treaty, the United Nations and others.

The Texarkana audience applauded when Johnson said he wanted "justice and equal and fair treatment for all citizens under our constitution."

Sharing the podium with him were Govs. Orval Faubus of Arkansas and John Connally of Texas.

Candidates to Appear Together

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Winthrop Rockefeller agreed Thursday to a televised question-and-answer meeting, which probably will be the only time they will publicly discuss the issues together in this campaign.

Rockefeller, the Republican candidate for governor, suggested the format for the program when he turned down an offer by KTHV, Channel 11 in Little Rock, to meet Faubus in a televised formal debate.

KATV, Channel 7 at Little Rock, followed up the debate offer by extending to Faubus the Rockefeller suggestion that they come together before the cameras to answer questions posed by newsmen.

Channel 11 changed its offer to the same format. Rockefeller accepted both offers, but Faubus accepted only KTHV's because it was the first extended to him.

KTHV officials said the program would be aired during prime viewing time. They said it is tentatively scheduled for the evening of Oct. 14.

Public Has Only 3 More Days to Purchase Poll Tax That's Necessary to Vote Nov. 3

By MAR ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

What is the greatest danger facing America today? Opinions differ, and many will say the threat is some group whose name ends in "ism" or the open or secret activities of our nation's enemies. No one will name an American citizen as a danger to our country; especially, a citizen like you or I.

We wouldn't dream of doing anything harmful. Too often we wouldn't dream of doing anything . . . period. And therein lies our threat to our own safety. The indifference of millions of people, inheritors of the traditions and opportunities of this greatest of all nations, to their own duties and responsibilities can be our greatest danger.

What's this? A 4th of July speech at the end of September? And why get so excited and disturbed over statements like "Half of our citizens do not even take the trouble to vote" or "Many give little or no thought to the national welfare"? After all, we are reminded, it is human nature to take an inheritance for granted, it accepts it as a matter of course.

In view of what is at stake — American institutions, American traditions, American ideals — is such an attitude of indifference "human" or, instead, "foolish"? We have a God-given privilege which is also a man-prescribed right to choose our government and those who will lead it. The fate of our country is also the fate of its people, and in our land — prairie — the people are given the right of choice in the democratic system of voting.

If you plan to exercise your privilege of voting in November, you must get prepared now. Only three more days remain to pay your poll tax; the deadline is October 1. We wouldn't think of failing to be ready for Christmas or vacation-time or some such event which needs a little advanced preparation. So why should we let election day catch us short?

It is often true that we "don't really appreciate something until we no longer have it." Don't let our privilege of voting be denied us before our desire for it is aroused. The National Defense Committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution recently published a message entitled "The Citizen's Responsibility" and these words were included in it:

"To fight for one's country, when its life is threatened by violence is noble and heroic; to stand up for it in peace time is a virtue quite as necessary. And unless there be such virtue in citizenship, our traditions will be forgotten, our ideals neglected and our institutions will crumble."

Records on Baker Asked by Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee agreed today to ask President Johnson for access to the income tax returns of Philadelphia contractor Matthew McCloskey and others figuring in the reopened Bobby Baker investigation.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., also disclosed that the committee's chief investigator, former FBI agent William E. Meehan, has interviewed McCloskey and said that McCloskey gave assurance that he would cooperate in the inquiry. The reopening of the political explosive Baker case was ordered by the Senate two weeks ago after Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., charged McCloskey made a $35,000 kickback on the District of Columbia Stadium contract.

Williams quoted Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, as telling him that $25,000 of this was channeled into the 1960 Kennedy — Johnson campaign fund through Baker, who since has resigned as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Jordan told newsmen after a closed meeting of the committee that he hoped to start public hearings next week, but he said this will depend on how quickly staff investigators "can get the facts."

Bids Taken on River Projects

MEMPHIS (AP) — Two Tennessee firms were apparent low bidders Thursday on U.S. Corp. of Engineers projects in Arkansas.

Patton Tulley Transportation Co. of Memphis offered to construct a stone dike for $383,750 on the Mississippi River at Basket Bar, Ark., 37 miles south of here.

Pioneer Construction Co. of Dyersburg, Tenn., submitted a $100,852 bid for levee construction at Clark's Corner on the St. Francis River about 10 miles southeast of Wynne, Ark.

New Fetish Replacing African Drum

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

Tunis (AP) — A new fetish is conquering Africa, gradually replacing the sound of drums, the voice of village elders and fires lit on the crests of hills. The transistor radio is sweeping the continent, penetrating into walled Arab villages of the north and the swamps of the rain forest in Africa's heart.

The "box that talks" knows no frontiers. It is carried by camel drivers in the sun-scorched Tunisian south, by oarsmen of the svelte pirogues on the Niger River, by houseboys of European settlers in the Ivory Coast.

Since 1948, the number of radio transmitters in Africa has grown from 120 to 370, and the number of individual sets from 930,000 to 5.5 million.

According to United Nations statistics, the circulation of daily newspapers has increased 50 per cent to a total of three million.

Two per cent of Africa's 269 million people own radio sets — the price often represents 5 per cent of their annual income. Perhaps 10 times as many people profit from the sets.

The radio has become an influential propaganda tool in the hands of Africa's powerful statesmen and foreign countries struggling for influence in the awakening continent.

Voices speaking in all major languages and most widespread tribal dialects pour from the ether day and night. Conflicting ideas and information spin the heads of the people in the savannas of Cameroon, in the sands of Mauritania.

The Voice of America, using some of the world's most powerful transmitters, beams seven languages, including Amharic and Swahili.

The Soviet Union has 17 hours of Africa-oriented broadcasts daily, while other East-bloc countries broadcast one to three hours.

Communist China, struggling for influence in Africa, broadcasts 10 hours a day in English, Arabic, French, and Portuguese.

France maintains a powerful transmitter in Brazzaville, on the banks of the Congo River, where a team of 60 French broadcasters and technicians spread France's propaganda in the former French colonies, the former Belgian Congo next door and Portuguese Angola.

Says Gambling Benefits All

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A professional banquet speaker told the Arkansas Restaurant Association Wednesday that legal gambling would benefit all Arkansas.

Jeff Williams of Hot Springs, who makes the after-dinner circuit in numerous cities, said casinos provide the type of entertainment that only their profits can finance.

The Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce reported that the shutdown of gambling had caused a sharp reduction in tourist activity in the resort city.

Union And GM Will Resume Talks Later

By GENE SCHROEDER

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers and General Motors Corp. negotiators left the bargaining tables for "a couple of hours sleep" today with little indication when they planned to return.

Meanwhile, 1965 GM auto production was at a standstill. More than a quarter of a million UAW members stayed home on strike.

Asked when he planned to sit down again with GM negotiators, UAW President Walter Reuther said:

"We told the corporation, and I think this is one thing we are both in agreement on, that we need a couple of hours of sleep."

"We'll be in touch with the corporation as soon as we get a few hours sleep, and we are again able to join them at the bargaining table in an effort to begin to deal with the problems that brought about this strike," Reuther added.

Louis Seaton, personnel vice president and GM's top negotiator, agreed with Reuther, and indicated something would be done about resuming negotiations over the weekend. He did not elaborate.

A nationwide strike was called against the nation's No. 1 automaker Friday when GM and UAW negotiators failed to reach agreement on a new three-year labor contract.

Although assembly lines stopped turning out new Chevrolets, Buicks, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs, most of the company's parts factories continued in operation.

A company spokesman said approximately 300,000 new cars were turned out before the walkout hit — enough to last 12 or 13 days.

Food Program Extended by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has passed and sent to the White House a two-year extension of the food for peace program. It authorizes disposal overseas of more than $3.5 billion of U.S. farm surpluses.

The Senate passed the extension 54 to 11 Thursday after defeating a move to eliminate a new ban on sales of American farm surpluses to Poland, Yugoslavia and other communist nations for their currencies.

The House approved the extension Wednesday.

Sens. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., led a move to send the extension to Fulbright's Foreign Relations Committee so another effort could be made to remove what they called objectionable provisions. The move failed 56 to 24.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., floor manager for the bill, told Fulbright that the present version "is the best you are going to get." Johnston and Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said elimination of the ban would result in the program being killed.

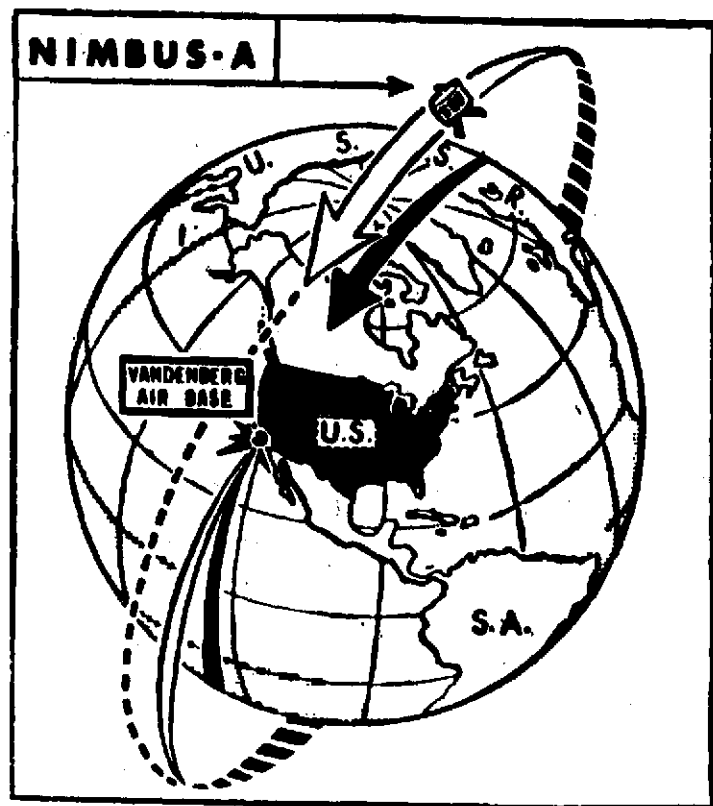

Johnston noted that dollar sales for credit under low interest loans would still be permitted to Poland and other approved countries.

President Johnson had asked a five-year extension of the program, under which more than $12 billion in farm surpluses have been sold overseas in the past decade. He opposed restrictions in the program.

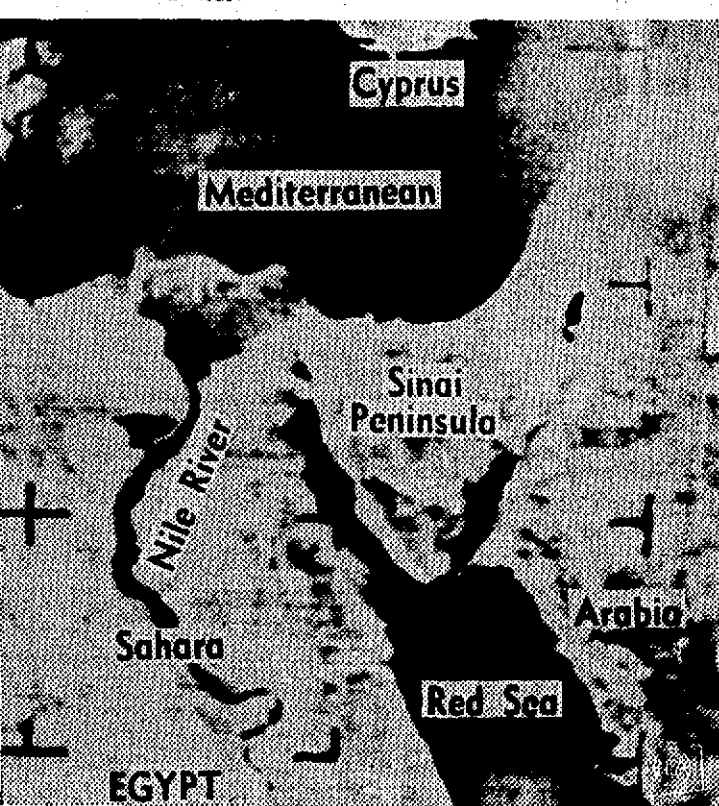

Fulbright contended that the ban on deals with communist nations for their own currencies would reverse the recent U.S. policy of trying to develop independence from Soviet Union domination of eastern European nations still behind the iron curtain.

"This is sham anti-communism," Fulbright said. "It will please no one except the communists in Moscow and the super-patriots in the United States."

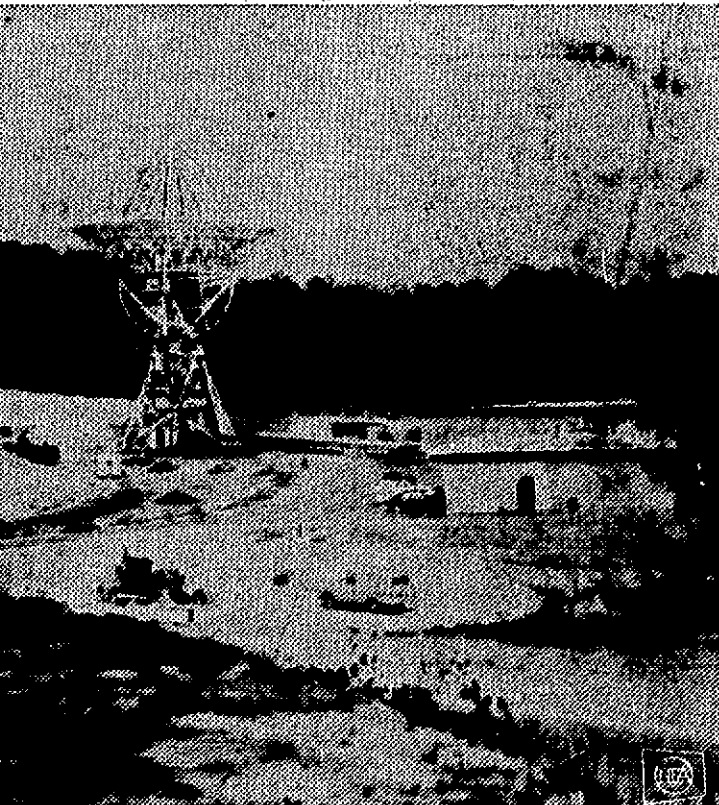

The new extension would give Congress more controls over use of these resulting foreign funds and would require the foreign nations or exporters to pay part of shipping costs when the surpluses move in U.S. vessels.

Strong Criticism of Court Action

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — After hearing strong criticism of the Supreme Court decision on reapportionment, the National Legislative Conference was expected to prepare and vote on a resolution today.

Several recommendations on the apportionment question were submitted at workshop discussions Thursday and a five-member committee was appointed to draft a resolution.

The Supreme Court held on June 15 that state legislatures must be apportioned as nearly as practical on the basis of population. Most state legislatures now have one house based on population and a second apportioned according to other factors, such as counties or areas.

Recommendations to the committee were introduced by a group including state Rep. Paul Van Dalsen of Arkansas.

Most of the 500 delegates attending the conference are state legislators or career public officials.

Postal Nomination

Warming Trend Is Predicted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted today a slight weekend warming trend after a cool front moved into the state Thursday, pushing overnight minimum temperatures to below 50 degrees.

The bureau said temperatures would remain mild today and climb a few degrees Saturday, ranging from the mid 70s to mid 80s. Overnight low readings of 54 to 64 degrees were predicted for tonight.

Corruption, Coverup Laid to Democrats

By WALTER R. MEARS
ENROUTE WITH GOLDWATER (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater accused the Democrats of corruption and coverup today, and coupled that with a charge that President Johnson "shows no inclination" to support the new civil rights law.

The Republican presidential nominee plunged into a whirlwind tour of northern New England — with a quick trip into New York — declaring that the civil rights bill he opposed in the Senate has not solved the problem of inequality.

"It's not going to do it unless it's enforced and the present administration shows no inclination towards supporting it," he told a police-estimated 1,500 people at an early morning rally at the Portland, Maine, airport.

Goldwater said laws won't really do the job anyhow. He spotted a hostile placard in the crowd challenging his stand on civil rights. "You too can be a second-class citizen," the sign said, "support civil rights."

"The law passed on civil rights will never correct the inequity in this country," he said. Goldwater said it is a problem that must be solved first in the hearts of Americans.

Goldwater said he hopes the law will help do the job — but added it can't accomplish anything if it is not enforced.

And he added that discrimination is wrong whether it is aimed at Negroes or at any other minority group.

Goldwater slapped the administration on the Bobby Baker affair, forecasting a whitewash of what he called a kickback "that could have directly benefited Lyndon Johnson's political career." That charge came in a speech prepared for delivery at Albany, N.Y.

In Albany, he was to have a private chat with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who battled him for the GOP nomination last summer.

Skipping across an area he concedes will be tough to carry in November, the Arizona senator pointed to the Senate Rules Committee's reopened investigation of the Baker case and declared:

"We must realistically expect that what we will actually get will be very little of the truth, the truth full of holes, and nothing but the same old run-around."

This time, the committee is to look into the charges of Sen. John Williams, R-Del., that former Democratic national treasurer Matthew McCloskey — through Baker — dropped $25,000 into the 1960 Democratic campaign fund as a "kickback" on the contract for building the District of Columbia stadium.

McCloskey is a Philadelphia contractor who was named by ambassador to Ireland by the late President John F. Kennedy. Goldwater said in a prepared address for some 24,000 cheering political fans at Fenway Park in Boston that the money "could have been siphoned into the Johnson campaign fund in 1960 — at a time when Lyndon Johnson was trying to take the Democratic nomination from John Fitzgerald Kennedy."

Goldwater's press secretary, Paul F. Wagner, said the senator skipped the remarks inadvertently in the speech because the passage was not on the Teleprompter he used.

In his undelivered Boston remarks, which had been handed to newsmen as a last-minute insert into his speech, Goldwater also said Kennedy "was on of my close friends in the Senate."

"Although I often disagreed with him, I always respected him," Goldwater said of the assassinated president from Boston. "Until his successor takes action to clean up the White House I can't say the same thing for him, at all."

Humphrey Will Take Campaign To The South

By HARRY KELLY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey takes his campaign south into the mountains of Appalachia today and plans an aircade of small planes.

President Johnson's running mate, arriving here from the autumn-tinged fields of Michigan, intends to fly from Louisville to Huntington, W. Va., aboard his chartered American Airlines Electra where his party — newsmen, aides and television and radio technicians — are to board a fleet of small aircraft for a flight to Prestonsburg, Ky.

Humphrey turns to the economically pinched mountain region after a day-long tour through relatively prosperous areas in Michigan.

He hit five towns — Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Bay City, Flint and Wayland — and much of the time he was in Republican territory.

But Humphrey called his reception "marvelous, marvelous."

And he told rallies in Bay City and Flint that "Michigan looks good for Democrats and Lyndon Johnson in 1964."

Humphrey appeared to be in a buoyant mood, but he warned Democrats time and time again against complacency and advised them of Harry S. Truman's axiom to "ignore polls." Humphrey winds up in Memphis tonight.

He said, in remarks prepared for delivery in Prestonsburg, many of the 2 million persons who live in Appalachia's 12 states "have suffered severely from the social and economic upheaval which has descended upon Appalachia."

Humphrey noted that a program designed to revitalize the region's economy is pending in Congress.

The $1.06-billion administration bill passed the Senate by a 45-13 vote Friday. It now goes to the House, where it faces stiffer opposition.

Now Time to Order Pine Seedlings

Pine seedlings for planting this fall and winter should be ordered now, County Agent Calvin Caldwell reminds farmers.

Seedlings can be ordered through the offices of the county agent, Soil Conservation Service or local forester, or direct from the Arkansas Forestry Commission Nursery, Post Office Box 224, North Little Rock, Arkansas.

The price of shortleaf and loblolly pine is $4.50 per thousand. Approximately 800 to 1,000 pine seedlings are needed to plant an acre.

Through the Agricultural Conservation Program, the federal government will share the cost of planting trees as follows: Hand planting, $1 per hundred; machine planting, 80 cents per hundred; planting site preparation, $7.50 per acre.

Conifers, such as pine, will grow generally where hardwood will not — on south slopes, in worn out fields and pastures, sandy areas, cut over and burned over woodlands, or on shallow dense or cloudy soil, Mr. Caldwell points out.

The best time to plant is between November 15 and February 15. Do not plant when the ground is dry or frozen. Plant instructions can be obtained from the county agent's office.

In spite of the fact that there is a temporary depression in the market for pine sawlogs and pulpwood, the long-range outlook is good. Although the per capita consumption of lumber has dropped during the past 30 years, in the same period the annual per capita consumption of paper and paperboard has more than doubled. This is also true of such products as hardboard and plywood.

With an increase in population there will be need for more wood products. To meet this demand, it will be necessary to put idle acres to work. Where natural reproduction will not take place within a reasonable length of time, some form of reforestation is needed.

Black Delays Ruling of U.S. Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Hugo L. Black of the Supreme Court has stayed enforcement of a ruling by a three-judge federal court that declared unconstitutional part of the new civil rights law.

The ruling involved a Birmingham, Ala., restaurant.

The high court plans to hear arguments on the case Oct. 5, immediately after hearing an Atlanta, Ga., case in which three federal judges upheld the constitutionality of the rights law's public accommodations section.

"It is an established rule of law that courts of equity will not exercise their power to enjoin enforcement of an Act of Congress except under the most imperative or exigent circumstances," Black said in granting the stay.

He said he had been authorized by the five other judges here to say the court is willing to hear the case when it opens its fall session Oct. 5.

On Aug. 10, Black refused to block enforcement of the civil rights law in the Atlanta case.

The Birmingham case involves Ollie's Barbecue, a restaurant owned by Ollie McClung Sr. and his son, Ollie Jr. It is located several blocks from the nearest interstate travel.

The Atlanta case involves a motel owned by Moreton Rolleston and a restaurant owned by Lester Maddox which is located adjacent to an interstate highway and thus close to interstate commerce.

There is even a slim possibility that before this Congress finishes it will have passed some kind of program—linked to Social Security—of medical care for the aged. This seemed impossible last year and for most of this one.

Here are some of the other measures passed by this Congress:

Mass transportation aid for urban areas; pay raises for federal employees and members of Congress; poverty war program; livestock and beef import controls; expansion of the food stamp program; expansion of vocational educational programs; establishment of a wilderness preservation system; land-water conservation programs; additional funds for public works; pay raises for military personnel in 1964; wheat and cotton subsidies; federal aid for doctor, dental and nursing schools; federal aid for academic facilities for colleges.

Mass transportation aid for urban areas; pay raises for federal employees and members of Congress; poverty war program; livestock and beef import controls; expansion of the food stamp program; expansion of vocational educational programs; establishment of a wilderness preservation system; land-water conservation programs; additional funds for public works; pay raises for military personnel in 1964; wheat and cotton subsidies; federal aid for doctor, dental and nursing schools; federal aid for academic facilities for colleges.

There is even a slim possibility that before this Congress finishes it will have passed some kind of program—linked to Social Security—of medical care for the aged. This seemed impossible last year and for most of this one.

Here are some of the other measures passed by this Congress:

Congress in an Amazing Turnabout

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's one thing you've heard almost absolutely nothing about in the presidential campaign so far. That's this present Congress, which has done one of the most amazing turnabouts in history.

But you can expect to hear plenty about it from the Democrats, who run Congress, and President Johnson, who needed it into an extremely impressive record, when this session ends.

In 1963 — the first half of the two-year session — this was the greatest collection of congressional dawdlers since 1940 when President Roosevelt got fed up with the Congress she had to deal with.

He blamed its wretched performance on "good-fellowship" in a letter to the then speaker of the House, Sam Rayburn, who died in 1961, and the present speaker, John McCormack, who was then the Democratic majority leader.

"What I want to get across to both of you before the next session begins is that good-fellowship alone, an easy life to avoid criticism, and acceptance of defeat before an issue has been joined, make, all of them, less for party success and for national safety than a few drag-down and knock-out fights and an unwillingness to accept defeat without a fight."

President Truman helped get himself elected in 1948 when he denounced the Republican-run Congress that year as a "do-nothing" Congress. But it was not all that bad and was far superior to the 1963 session of this Congress.

There was a gentle and gentlemanly attitude about Congress last year. And President Kennedy, whose vital programs were being ignored, was one of the gentlest in dealing with both House and Senate.

As soon as he moved into the White House Johnson began using his skills on the tardy, lackadaisical lawmakers that he had learned in 23 years in House and Senate, seven of them as Democratic leader in the Senate.

At the time of his death two of Kennedy's most important bills — a tax cut and civil rights — were just unfinished business. He had never been able to be harsh with Congress. He called the failure to get action "unfortunate."

But in an astonishingly short time Johnson began to get action.

Before the end of last February, Congress passed the tax measure, an $11.5-billion cut in personal and corporate income, the biggest in history.

In early July Congress, after an 83-day Senate battle, passed the most far-reaching civil rights bill in history.

Thursday the Senate passed a foreign aid authorization bill after adopting a compromise solution to its long controversy over legislative reapportionment.

The aid bill now goes to a Senate-House conference committee to iron out differences between the two houses. This shouldn't be hard.

Also Thursday another House-Senate committee — to reconcile differences — agreed to a bill broadening and expanding the National Defense Education Act.

There is even a slim possibility that before this Congress finishes it will have passed some kind of program—linked to Social Security—of medical care for the aged. This seemed impossible last year and for most of this one.

Garland Asks for More Poll Taxes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Auditor Jimmie Jones said Wednesday that Garland County had asked for an additional 3,000 poll tax receipts.

One of the proposals on the

"DEAR ABBY"

IT'S YOUR MOVE, LADY!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I am the mother of an eight-year-old boy from a former marriage. My present husband is insanely jealous of my son and I think it is because the boy looks so much like his real father. My husband and I work different shifts. He has to leave the house at 3:30 p.m. and I don't get home until 6:00 p.m. My husband insists that the boy is old enough to stay alone and he won't let me get anyone in to stay with him. Abby, I am practically out of my mind worrying about what can happen to my little boy until I get home. He means the world to me. I am constantly pulled between my husband and my son. I love my husband, too, but my son means more to me than life itself. Please tell me what to do soon.

UNHAPPY

Dear Unhappy: If your son really means more to you than "life itself," quit your job and live on what your husband earns. That way you'll be able to stay at home and be a full-time mother to the boy who "means the world" to you. Otherwise, continue to work and hire someone to look after your son during your absence. And if your husband doesn't like it, tell him to do what Ben Franklin did—to go fly a kite!

Dear Abby: I was recently invited to a miscellaneous bridal shower for the daughter of a friend of mine. Since the shower gifts were not confined to "kitchen" or anything special, I thought a Bible would be a very welcome and unique gift. I bought the nicest Bible I could find, and had it beautifully gift-wrapped and presented it to the bride at the shower. When she opened my gift, she remarked, "Oh, dear, if I had wanted a Bible I could have STOLEN one from any hotel room."

Everyone laughed, but I had a lump in my throat the size of a lemon. Do you think my gift was inappropriate, and I would like your opinion of the bride.

IOWA READER

Dear Reader: I think your gift was wonderfully appropriate. Nov. 3 ballot is a proposed constitutional amendment to legalize the county's closed casino operations.

Jones said Baxter County asked for 600 more receipts; Conway County 1,050; White 1,500; Clark 600.

Survey Shows Big Damage to U.S. Crops

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's farmers have moved into the fall harvest season hoping for relief from a late-season drought that already has cost nearly $300 million in crop damage, an associated Press survey shows.

Some farmers compared the summer of 1964 with the dust bowl days of the dry mid-1930s. Many states reported the summer as the driest on record.

A state-by-state survey today indicated that the most heavily damaged crops were corn, soybeans, sorghum and wheat. Many unharvested fruit crops were expected to suffer later this fall, and agriculture officials estimate the total drought loss will exceed the $500 million.

The worst drought areas were in the eastern section of the country, with Connecticut, Pennsylvania and New York among the hardest hit. Lack of water has dried up thousands of pastures, resulting in heavy losses for dairy farmers in the East and Middle West.

And silos throughout the country were empty or near empty, lacking livestock fodder for the winter.

Pennsylvania — farm loss expected to total $50 million with income in northeastern part of the state off as much as 50 per cent. 1964 third straight drought year, and corn, potatoes and apple crops especially hurt. Dairy industry also suffered heavily. Eleven northeastern counties designated drought disaster areas.

New Jersey — Crop loss in corn, hay and vegetable crops could total $11.5 million. Birds eating crops because their natural feed dried up. Sixteen of 21 counties in state declared eligible for drought relief loans.

Connecticut — Drought second or third worst since 1900, with rainfall averaging three inches below normal. Vegetable crop loss estimated at between $100,000 and $200,000, with more losses expected in peach and apple crops.

New York — Drought hitting pastures and hay crop resulting in critical dairy farm situation. No estimate of loss; available, but 27 counties declared disaster emergency areas. Milk industry hit hardest, down $10 million to $20 million. Pasture conditions worst in history.

West Virginia — Severe drought conditions in parts of state with 10 counties declared disaster areas. Eastern counties hardest hit.

Massachusetts — Hay hardest hit, down 10 per cent from five-year average. Cranberries also affected.

Vermont — Five southern counties declared disaster areas because of drought. Hay in trouble, 75 per cent of normal.

North Carolina — Three counties disaster areas because of June drought. No serious fires or serious flooding.

Virginia — Drought relief aid granted to 28 counties. Grazing and hay privileges granted to 56 counties. Apple crop hit hard, fruit too small for marketing.

MIDWEST AND CENTRAL
Kansas — Grain and corn production hardest hit, with crops as much as one-third below 1963's totals. Drought struck at critical time for corn, but otherwise rainfall adequate.

Colorado — Drought loss between $40 and $50 million with wheat crop off by 20 million bushels. Sorghum, sugar beets and grains also fell below usual output. No fire threat in wooded areas, however.

Indiana — Crop loss estimated at $70 million. Rainfall four inches below normal, hitting corn and soybeans hardest.

Minnesota — Worst drought in southeastern part of state since the 1930s, say farmers. Corn hardest hit. Thirty counties granted emergency hay and grazing privileges on conservation land.

Wisconsin — Thirty-five counties seeking extension of federal drought aid. Prolonged summer drought has left many silos empty or near-empty.

Ohio — August-September drought lasted 26 days, bringing disaster to crops in southern half of state. Some areas short 8½ inches of rain. Twenty counties declared disaster areas. No damage figures available yet.

Kentucky — Tobacco crop loss set at $30 million with other crops also suffering. More than 40 counties declared disaster areas.

WEST

Nevada — Drought conditions still exist in southern Nevada.

Hope Whips Bucks 13-0 In 4AA Victory

Defense Play Of Bobcats Is Tremendous

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sportswriter

Proving that they know a little more about football than the "experts", the Bobcats took a long step in the direction of the 4AA crown last night by bombing the Battlin' Buck 13-0 at Smackover.

A little new offense, determination, and that priceless ingredient, enthusiasm, combined to shut out the Buckaroos in a game already scratched off the list by most of those who supposedly know. There was only one thing they didn't take into consideration - the Bobcats wanted to win.

The weather was just right for football. It was crisp, but not really cold. It must have been just right for mosquitoes, too, because a tremendous swarm of them descended upon the field right before the kick.

Nothing could dampen the spirits of the fans, however. The air was charged with excitement. The fans were keyed to a fine pitch.

Winning the toss, the Bobcats elected to receive. They opened their running game with a slot formation. Although not entirely new to the Cats, this was out of the ordinary.

They were unable to build up any steam, however, and were forced to punt. After another exchange of punts, Hope took possession on the Buckaroo 20.

Two good runs Jerry Waller and a pass from Vince Massaneli to Johnny Samuels moved the Bobcats within striking distance. From the four, Massaneli popped a short pass to Jerry Burnett waiting across the goal. The touchdown was nullified, however, by a backfield in motion penalty.

Smackover took over possession, but in rather a tight situation. They were unable to move against the stalwart, Bobcat forward wall and sent quarterback Jim Daniel back to punt them out of the hole.

Daniel was having a little trouble with his punting game, and although well protected, was able to boot for only two yards. Thus, Hope took over on the Buck 19.

Here the Bobcats pulled one of the night's surprises from their little bag of tricks in the form of the pro type I formation. The baffled defense allowed Burnett to get in to the two, and two plays later Samuels sliced across left tackle for the tally that put the Bobcats up on the scoreboard. Burnett's PAT attempt was wide to the left, and Hope led 6-0 in the opening seconds of the second period.

An alert defense and the punting of Buddy Jordan kept the Bucks with their backs against the goal for most of the quarter.

With just over three minutes to go, the Bucks punted out to Jerry Burnett on the Smackover 41, where he was immediately mobbed.

Three good runs by Waller and a pass interference penalty against the Buckaroos moved the Bobcats in close enough to let Samuels score from the three on the same play he racked up with the first time. Jordan split the up-rights for the extra point, and the half ended with Hope in the command by 13.

During the halftime ceremonies, the Hope High band made the Bobcats fans justifiably proud with a fine exhibition of precision marching.

The unsung heroes of the Bobcat defensive unit played a big part in the way the first half went. They allowed the Bucks only eighteen yards total of offense, and not a single first down.

The Bucks made a stab at a comeback when play resumed, but a fumble stopped them way short of the goal. The end of the quarter came with Hope still firmly entrenched behind their 13-0 lead.

During the fourth quarter the ball was handed over to the subs, sometimes better known as the homicide squad.

After the game, the Bobcats hoisted head coach Alan Howard onto their shoulders and carried him to the dressing room. There was quite a bit of merry-making after the game and on the trip home.

Burnett led Hope in individual statistics with 46 yards in 13 carries. Waller was 13-17, Massaneli 6-19, Easterling 6-14, B. Samuels 3-6, J. Samuels 4-6, and Westbrook 1-2.

One out of ten

ONE lone potato out of ten... THAT'S ALL GOD ASKS. From ancient times men have realized their obligation to God and His church by giving a tenth of their increase. TITHING IS GOD'S INVITATION TO FORM A PARTNERSHIP WITH THE ONLY CORPORATION THAT CAN'T GO BROKE. Salvation cost God His only Son... what has it cost you? "The tenth is Holy unto the Lord," Lev. 27:32. "Those who withhold more than is right will come to poverty," Prov. 11:24

THE CHURCHES OF THIS COMMUNITY ARE THE ONLY INSTITUTIONS WHICH HAVE AS THEIR MAIN FUNCTION, THE TRANSFORMING OF HUMAN LIVES. THEY ARE THE SIGN BOARDS POINTING THE WAY TO GOD.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted... to combat Communism on all fronts... to be faithful to God.

OUR PASTORS ARE GOD'S SERVANTS WHO CALL THE SIGNALS AGAINST THE ORGANIZED FORCES OF EVIL. THEY INVITE YOU TO ENLIST ON THE SIDE FOR GOD...

The Ninety and Nine Were Safe; -- But One!?
